

Dear Sir/Madam

The Macquarie Point Multipurpose Stadium is set to be a significant catalyst for urban renewal, generating new life to Hobart. I think it will be a key driver of economic growth in the region through increased tourism, with construction the number of jobs created during and after will be significant and a major boost to the hospitality sector and many more businesses by default and being multipurpose it will open doors to attracting major events, state, federal and international conferences which in turn will generate significant income for the state

With its iconic design and exceptional accessibility, the stadium is destined to become a prominent landmark. Its location will encourage visitors to walk from various parts of the city, which in turn will increase business for local bars, restaurants, and small businesses in the surrounding areas both before and after events.

This will be a once in a lifetime opportunity that should not be missed.

Sincerely,
Shane Ellings
